

My strong opinion is that we need this list to protect the quality of the time we get to spend at home with are families. The Government is creating all of these programs for our children that try to provide the guidance and support that they should be getting at home from their families. The parents are too busy answering the phone and email solitations.

Lets take this a step farther and create a "No Catalog" list to stop these companies from sending all of these unwanted catalogs. This would encourage families to go shopping together and teach their children the skills they need to pick and choose only what they really need.
